

As a professional flight attendant I strongly oppose cell phone usage on aircraft. Maintaining a safe comfortable environment on the aircraft is an increasingly difficult task. Not only will cell phones make it easier for potential terrorists to communicate with each other it would also make it difficult if not impossible for flight attendants to get the attention of passengers in an emergency.